PREFACE

I-liang is located in Yunnan Province (Kunming Military Region) approximately 23 nm ESE of Kunming. The Kunming - Lao Kay rail line passes through I-liang.

The 37th Infantry Division of the 13th Chinese Communist Army is reported to be in the I-liang area. Four separate areas, all within 8 nm of I-liang, are included within this report--all are titled according to the DIA Bombing Encyclopedia (see reference page). The overall title of this report, I-liang Military Complex, is also a BE entry. There are a total of six BE target listings for the I-liang area and all of these listings are included within the text of this report.

Comparative photography  is included in the graphic presentation of this installation; however, photography of both earlier and later missions was utilized in the preparation of the textual analysis (see reference page).

All of the installations included in this report appear to have a very strong relationship to agricultural activity. Military equipment in the I-liang Army Barracks North, for example, was observed on only one mission (this does not necessarily lessen the probability that military personnel and equipment could be billeted in each of the installations).
